Report

The Department of Political Science recently organized a students seminar on 12/07/2024 in room no.- 202 1:30 pm, aimed at fostering academic curiosity and critical thinking among participants. The seminar provided a platform for students to present their research and engage in discussions on contemporary political issues. The seminar focused on the theme of "Democracy and Its Challenges in the 21st Century." Topics included electoral reforms, the role of media in democracy, climate change and policy-making, and global governance. Students from both Honours and General courses actively participated. They presented well-researched papers using multimedia tools, followed by interactive Q&A sessions with peers and faculty. The primary objective was to enhance students' research skills, public speaking abilities, and their understanding of political systems. The event encouraged academic collaboration among students and faculty while enhancing the participants' confidence and analytical abilities. The best presenters were awarded certificates of excellence. The seminar was a success, demonstrating the department's commitment to holistic learning and encouraging intellectual dialogue among young political thinkers.
